

ABSTRACT

In some embodiments of the invention, methods are provided to interrogate the transcriptional activity relating to RNAs of small molecular weight. The methods employ hybridization of a large number of oligonucleotide probes with nucleic acid derived from RNAs of small molecular weight.

5